

中国科学院上海巴斯德研究所
INSTITUT PASTEUR OF SHANGHAI
CHINESE ACADEMY OF SCIENCES

Influenza colloquium on July 27

7/27/2010 (TUE)	8:30	Welcome and Introduction Dr. Ke Lan, Director, the Center for Pathogen Diagnosis, Shanghai IPS Visitors: Drs. Juergen A. Richt, Guangzhi Tong, Michael Emch, Dr. Henry Wan
	8:40-9:20	The role of the pig in pandemic flu Dr. Juergen A. Richt, Regents Distinguished Professor, Director-Center for Excellence of Emerging & Zoonotic Animal Diseases, Kansas State University
	9:30-10:20	Antigenic difference analysis of swine- and human-origin H1N1s Dr. Guangzhi Tong, Director, Shanghai Veterinary Research Institute, Chinese Academy of Agricultural Sciences.
	10:30-11:20	Visualization and prediction of influenza antigenic variant using antigenic cartography Dr. Xiu-Feng (Henry) Wan, Assistant Professor, Department of Basic Science, College of Veterinary Medicine, Mississippi State University; Guest Professor at Institute of Pasture at Shanghai.
	11:20-12:20	Discussion (1) Human-animal interface in China (2) Challenges in diagnosis and surveillance (3) Roles of Shanghai IPS (4) Technical details
	12:30	Lunch